What About Bob?

A Message from our President

Fellow Jaycees,

Happy New Year to all!! I hope everyone enjoyed a joyous holiday season. 1992 has come and gone, but there are still four months left in this "Jaycee year" (and I'm already counting!). I feel that our chapter experienced a successful '92. We certainly finished strong in December. During my three years on the Board of Directors, I can never remember having thirteen candidates for project of the month. But, that is what we had to deal with at the Dec. 23rd Board meeting. It is a shame that we have only one project award, because there were several outstanding projects that deserved consideration.

Let me get back to that business of the Jaycee year for a moment. For the benefit of our thirteen new members and for the older members whose memories aren't what they used to be, allow me to explain. A new Board of Directors takes office every May. They are charged with preparing the planned year budget and overseeing the affairs of the Chapter for that year. Many people choose to spend more than one year on the Board, but no one can hold the same position for two consecutive years. I will have more information next month, including a full list of Board positions and their job descriptions. It is not too early to start thinking about joining next year's Board. The nominations committee will start making calls in February!!!

The month of January looks like it will offer us all a little breather (there aren't 13 projects planned!). I do hope everyone can come out for the GM on the thirteenth and hear the final reports on all of our holiday projects. Jane has also promised us an interesting guest speaker that night. Another important night is Jan. 20. That will be the "How to chair a project and write a CPG" seminar by Fred Badger. This might not be as exciting as some of our socials, but, for the good of the Chapter, it's even more important. We have members out there that are a little reluctant to take on the chairmanship of a project. This seminar could be just the confidence builder needed. I'm happy to see Fred run this seminar. I've been a little disappointed that we've had so little time for "management training" this year. Luckily, we've had plenty of "on the job" training!!!!!

Bob Webster
President

JANUARY 1993

If December didn't offer enough variety and quantity of projects for you to get involved in, we'll have to run a training seminar on participation! The year certainly closed with an abundance of great Jaycee activities. I hope amidst all of your busy holiday schedules, you were able to get out to atleast a few of them. This chapter looked great out there!

In the socials area, the well-planned, carefully-organized, highly-anticipated, snowed-out, cancelled, restructured, and not-to-be-lost Progressive Dinner was certainly an event that will be long remembered. Thanks to Jane Webster and Sue Kennedy for a great planning and replanning job and to the Emerys' for lending their home for an entire evening's worth of hosting.

On the younger side, about twenty young guests enjoyed a Jaycee Kids party run by Kathy and Fred Badger. The attendance was sufficiently large enough to require Santa to pay a fast second visit to Bradlees for a few extra prizes. Let's repeat and expand on this nice afternoon for the kids. Thanks Kathy and Fred.

Moving into the future of this coming year, I'd like to invite all new and newer members to attend the "How to Run a Project/ How to Write a C.P.G." Seminar to be run by Fred Badger at his house on January 20 at 8:00 p.m. The object of this training seminar is to, among other things, get newer members comfortable with using the tools of the Jaycees to manage and run a project under the Jaycee name. Don't be afraid of the dark, come out and become enlightened so that you too can experience the satisfaction of running a project. You and the organization of which you are a part will both benefit. Sign up for this training at the January G.M. or call Fred at 543-9447 and let him know you're ready to get more involved!

I wish to all of my fellow officers and members, in short, to all of my good friends in this organization, a healthy, happy, and peace-filled New Year.

Keeping holiday tradition alive

By Vin Igo

The annual appearance of the town's nativity scene, formerly housed in its own wooden manger and now erected at the Common bandstand, marks the continuation of a local tradition which began in the rly 1950s.

It was 6 degrees below zero on the day the ssic nativity figurines were delivered to the ne of Mrs. I.W. Reynolds, then-president of Foxboro Women's Club.

Florence Buckley, who moved to Foxboro in 4 for her husband, the late Dr. Francis C. ckley, also were instrumental in drumming up pport for the project.

Mrs. Buckley organized community fundsing activities, which involved all the churches in Foxboro. She was assisted by the late Helen Spillane, who politely, but determinedly, obtained contributions from most of the local merchants.

After the figurines were first delivered, there was still some question of how they would be assembled. Mrs. Buckley contacted Walter Ridley, who was a pillar at St. Mark's Episcopal Church, and less than a half-hour later a work party rolled up in front of her Main Street home – where she still lives, by the way.

Mrs. Buckley unsuccessfully attempted to bring coffee from her house to the men, who by then had transported the figurines to the Common and were hard at work in the sub-zero chill.

"But the water froze before we could get it to the center of town," she recalled this week.

Over the years, age and vandalism have both taken their toll on the traditional statues.

Many years ago, Foxboro native Luke Ford, now living in Florida, put his artistic ingenu work repairing and refinishing the pieces. But was a stop-gap measure at best.

Over the past year, virtually all of the 20-od pieces have been refurbished by Debra Wo the Foxboro Jaycees. She undertook the proje without any particular training, and comp the work in her father's barn off High Street.

The Jaycees now assemble and then disa semble the nativity scene each year as one organization's ongoing community servic projects. The figurines are stored in the fo Quaker Hill School in South Foxboro, where the had been severely vandalized at some p the past year.

Through her efforts and hard work, D Wood has shown the same community inter and civic spirit demonstrated by those wom who helped acquire the traditional figurine the public's behalf more than 35 years ago.

Dynisco
4 Commercial Street
Sharon, MA 02067

Dear Mr. Coughlin:

Thank you for the use of Dynisco's office and phones during the Foxboro Jaycees' Santa Phone 1992 project held on December 16th and 17th.

With a project involving this many phone calls, it was certainly much easier to organize and manage when provided with one functional and comfortable location to work from. Dynisco provided all this and more. Your thoughtfulness and generosity is certainly appreciated.

We were able to speak with 69 children over the two night period which is up from the number of requests we received last year. This all indicating to us that this annual project is one that the community looks forward to not to mention the little ones who get a chance to speak with Santa. All you need to do is listen in on a phone call to hear the excitement in their voices!

Santa Phone is one of many projects the Foxboro Jaycees provide to the residents of Foxboro. It's such a pleasure to have Dynisco as partners in this community development project.

On behalf of the Foxboro Jaycees, I want to again thank you for your generosity and wish you and your family a very happy holiday season and the very best of the new year.

Sincerely,
